

Take Me With

72 x 54 inches

Photography, Mixed Media

Mark Jackson

Bio

Mark Jackson is a multidisciplinary artist living and working in a small town in Arkansas. He is fascinated by photography, design, and sculpture. Jackson's art is generally focused around places, the human figure, and curious objects. They walk a delicate line between the abstract and the real. Jackson established VELESERO to curate the work he created in the 2020's and 2030's. He concepts, directs, and photographs all his work. He also designs furniture and sculpture which has been exhibited across the United States and featured in events like the Venice Biennale. His work is in select galleries and private collections, and he has worked with major brands and agencies around the globe.

Artist Statement

I collect fragments and assemble them. Nothing is perfect, nor does it need to be. I look for ideas to communicate, and I'm driven by the desire to make things I want to look at. And hopefully, those things are beautiful and curious. And I sell what I make, so that I can repeat the process.