Bio

Patricia Moline is a mixed media artist currently living in Fayetteville. While working mainly in acrylic and oil her approach is to combine traditional painting with mediums and tools to create textured layers, interesting marks, and an overall fresh lively feel to the work. Her work has been included in several exhibits at Spiva Center for the Arts. A solo show, Cloudy, at Art Central in Missouri and most recently in Our Art, Our Time, and the ANA Gallery in Rogers.

Artist Statement

The untamed nature of Arkansas and surrounding area provides the inspiration for my work. Using acrylics or oils along with mediums and tools, I attempt to capture the energy and flow of the landscape. The challenge is to breakdown the patterns, shapes, and light to present a moment of the show nature wants us to notice.
