Artist Bio

I'm Caitlin Adams, the artist behind Caitlin Joy Art. I'm a watercolor and mixed media artist based in Fayetteville, Arkansas, where I live with my husband and our four children. Inspired by nature, I create expressive landscapes and florals using watercolor, acrylic, gouache, oil pastel, and other mixed media. I love exploring texture, color, and movement to capture the beauty and feeling of the natural world. You can find my work at local markets and retail stores throughout Northwest Arkansas, where one of my favorite parts of being an artist is meeting customers and connecting with the people who bring my pieces into their homes. I hope to bring warmth, emotion, and a sense of wonder into the spaces where they live.

Artist Statement

My work is an exploration of beauty, emotion, and the way we experience the world around us. I am drawn to the colors, shapes, textures, and imperfect details found in nature and everyday life, and I translate those observations into expressive, layered compositions. At the heart of my work is a desire to create art that feels meaningful yet approachable. I don't want my art to simply be something beautiful to look at. I want it to evoke something deeper: peace, wonder, and a reminder that even in the ordinary, there is something sacred.
