

still life with shallots and garlic, 10 x 10 inches, Oil on panel, $199.

Déa Self

Artist Bio

Déa Self (b. 1977, Bull Shoals, AR) is a contemporary painter based in Fayetteville, Arkansas. Rooted in her upbringing in the Ozarks, Self's work captures the subtle shifts of light, atmosphere, and organic textures found in the natural world. Working in oils and acrylics on canvas and wood panels, her practice spans from studio pieces to large-scale public murals.

Artist Statement

I am continually drawn to the traditional still life because the subject forces me to slow down and truly look. My creative process centers on how adjacent colors interact, exploring how specific palettes evoke distinct emotions, feelings, and memories.