Bio

Hello! My name is Katie Clements and I work with mixed media (watercolor, acrylic, marker, cardboard, wood, etc.). I am currently a student at the University of Arkansas hoping to become a full-time artist once graduating. My work consists of optical illusions and the feeling of "doom" and "cutesy" packed all into one. It also has a buzzy feeling and can come off as a feeling of paranoia or anxiety. As for inspiration, Adventure Time and patterns in nature give me what I need.

Artist Statement

I've been thinking about surveillance within my artwork. My practice is optical illusion and abstractionism mashed together. I expect to continue exploring this type of imagery but with different mediums such as wood. As for the palette, I choose to stay limited so that when something is important, it shows through. It is important to me that there is some sort of buzziness in the eyes or afterimages after viewing my work. It's as if you're a deer in headlights. My goal for my practice is to create a world in which 'doom' and 'cutesy' live in a world of patterns and cartoons.
