

OUR ART OUR REGION OUR TIME

La Loteria: Juego de Suerte

3D-37in, 49in, 4in

Ceramics

$100 per tile, $1500 full piece

Alondra Cruz

www.alocruz.com

@alo.ndracruzz

Bio

Alondra Cruz is a multidisciplinary artist based in Springdale, AR. They specialize in Graphic Design and Ceramics, regularly blending both disciplines to cultivate a unique perspective. Driven by a deep passion to uplift underrepresented communities, she often draws inspiration from her own cultural background and personal influences. Alondra has already been included in various exhibitions including "Home" at sUgAR Gallery, Fayetteville, AR and "Con Ojos Nublados" at pH Gallery in West Fork, AR. Additional details of Alondra's work can be found on her website, www.alocruz.com.

Artist Statement

My work revolves around identity, often delving into the emotional turmoil tied to my own cultural background. Through my art, I aim to uplift underrepresented communities by highlighting their struggles and shared experiences, often integrating elements of Mexican pop culture, such as "La Loteria" and iconic street food. These familiar symbols serve as a bridge, connecting my own experiences with larger cultural narratives.

Creating art has become a way for me to explore and connect with my cultural identity. It allows me to navigate and understand the labels I carry: Mexican-American, Latina, daughter, first-generation, queer, and many others.

My work is a reflection of my own journey of self-discovery and a tribute to the resilience of the communities that have shaped me. I invite viewers to look beyond the surface and find their own stories within my pieces.