Bio

Derek Scott is a self-taught local artist currently residing in Bentonville. Although he has had a lifelong love of art, he began his own artistic journey in earnest roughly a decade ago, after serving in the U.S. Marine Corps, raising a family, and navigating a legal career. He currently spends most of his available time developing his artistic skills. His medium is oil and his style is traditional realism. Known for his classically beautiful still life paintings (he also enjoys painting portraits). Derek is on a constant and never-ending journey to hone his skills as a painter and master his craft.

Artist Statement

I am a self-taught artist who is passionate about creating art that people can enjoy beyond a lifetime. For me, there is nothing like the excitement of the creative process. I was born in Gary, IN, but raised in Sweet Home, AR. Throughout my childhood, I always dreamed of becoming a professional artist. However, life had a different plan. After graduating high school in 1983, I spent four years active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps. It wasn't until a few years after I moved to Northwest Arkansas in 2002 that I began reacquainting myself with my passion for oil painting.

My goal as an artist is to create fine art that brings inspiration and excitement to my viewers. In my art, I attempt to capture the essence of everyday objects, using light and its effect on that composition to keep the viewer's attention and interest. Consequently, the light becomes an important part of the composition.
