Bio

Erin Ashcraft is a painter local to Rogers, Arkansas navigating themes of nostalgia and nature. Erin studied Studio Art and Intercultural Studies at Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Missouri. Erin's use of color and symbolic imagery is often reflective of her childhood growing up in rural Southeast Arkansas.

Artist Statement

As an Arkansas native, I hold a deep appreciation for the natural beauty of the Ozarks, which often serves as a source of inspiration for my work as a painter and muralist. Growing up, the forests surrounding my childhood home provided a sense of solace and escape, and I strive to capture that same feeling of nostalgia in my art through the use of vibrant colors and playful patterns. Recently, I've been exploring the concept of innocence in my work, delving into how it shapes our perceptions of ourselves and others. I'm particularly interested in the cultural and societal impact of public art, and I take great pride in creating pieces that breathe new life into communal spaces for all to enjoy.
