Bio

I became involved in ceramics at Drury College in Springfield Mo as a sideline to my biology and business degree. A few years ago a professor friend of mine introduced me to the folks at Springfield Pottery and my ceramics ticket was punched.

After raising three great kids and dual careers in sales and real estate my wife and I settled in Fayetteville to be closer to our family.

This life change and the talented folks at the Nadine Baum Community Creative Center has helped me on my ceramics journey.

Artist Statement

Art is a part of our life's work, whether it is in the garden, the written word or the casting of a fly line. My work is a fun interpretation to recreate what I see in this wonderful world.
