Bio

Pat Hawkins Sweeden, a native Arkansan, relocated from Little Rock to Northwest Arkansas after retiring from a career in Training and Education. She has a Master's in Applied Communication.

This self-taught artist learned basic techniques through subject matter books and participated in several classes. Pat earned eleven ribbons for her work during the four years she entered the annual art show in Holiday Island. Her art was selected for the juried 2019 National Exhibition Celebration of Art.

Pat is one of fourteen award-winning artists in the ANA Gallery Group and is a member of Artists of Northwest Arkansas. Her art has been on display at FNB (First National Bank-Downtown Bentonville). She resides with her family in Bentonville, AR.

Artist Statement

Passion and inspiration guide my artistic efforts. I like paying attention to detail in creating photorealistic images. I am drawn to bright colors and images that make a bold statement. I enjoy the "Wow" factor of photorealism, causing the observer to look closer. I prefer to paint with oil on canvas and sometimes use acrylic and other medium.
