Bio

Mary received her BFA in Ceramics from the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville in 2008 and her MFA from Virginia Commonwealth University in Craft/Material Studies in 2011. She taught community art classes at the Visual Arts Center in Richmond, Virginia. Now a mother and primary caregiver to three kids (ages 8, 7 and 3), she is slowly carving out more time for her own art. After living in San Antonio, TX for nearly seven years, she has recently moved back to her home state of Arkansas. She is currently in the planning stages of building a home studio and teaches adjunct at UAFS.

Artist Statement

I grew up enamored with my grandfather's collection of 50 family photo albums, which was ever growing. The love of cataloguing and remembering big and especially small, mundane moments in life is what has inspired much of my work, including these new pieces.
